APRIL 2019

What Extinction?

The science is very clear. We are overloading the planet with pollution of all sorts including CO2 at a rate much faster than the system can handle, and we are rapidly using and destroying resources that can never be replaced in thousands or millions of years.

The result is a climate that is becoming unstable and showing signs of runaway change beyond the limits at which humans can survive, and a global eco-system that is collapsing before our eyes. These changes are happening within your lifetime.

What Rebellion?

Over the past year increasing numbers of scientists have broken ranks to speak their truth in public; issuing dire warnings of the urgent need for major changes.

You also know this in your own heart – the places you love are changing and fading before your eyes.

And yet our government and political system is incapable of acting on this. The changes required – for example total elimination of fossil fuel burning within 10 years – are not compatible with business-as-usual.

A government that is failing in its duty of care towards its citizens has lost its moral authority to govern. Citizens now have a duty to rebel against the government and the political class and compel our politicians to take the drastic action needed if we are to survive.

What for?

At stake is not just the life of your grandchildren and the future of your children – it is your own life that is threatened. YOU NEED TO ACT NOW!

When?

REBELLION NOW!

Where?

Everywhere! In your family, with your friends, in your community, in your streets, in your town, in the seats of power, in the faces of those who refuse to make the changes. ACTION in the Real World.
